

Weathering the Storm '13

Are You Ready?

Do you know what steps to take if a hurricane threatens? Outlined below is an action plan for faculty and staff at the University of Miami. Each unit also should have its own continuity plan via UReady. Employees at all campuses should check with their supervisors before leaving work.

Although we are preparing for this year's hurricane season, the University Emergency Plan provides guidelines for handling any type of crisis that may arise—and much of the information in this flyer (particularly regarding police and communications) is applicable for those situations.

Please remember—for life-threatening emergencies on any campus, call 911. UM Police are also available around the clock by calling 305-284-6666 on the Coral Gables campus. On the Miller School campus, call Security at 305-243-6000, and on the Rosenstiel campus, call Campus Safety at 305-421-4766 (office) or 305-710-7991 (24/7). More than 150 emergency blue-light phones, which connect directly to police and security, are strategically located throughout the Coral Gables and Miller School campuses.

Before a Hurricane

Be Prepared UReady continuity unit plans should include key emergency telephone numbers. Each unit's human resources liaison should download the contact information for all staff members from the Prepare Data Warehouse, and keep printed copies in multiple locations. Employees also should review the Information Technology Department's Hurricane Season Computer Hardware and Data Protection guidelines at www.miami.edu/prepare.

Hurricane Threat

Take Heed Upon notification of a hurricane warning, all University employees should:

- Update your phone contact list.
- Back up all computer data.
- Clear desktops and store books, papers, and equipment in a safe place away from windows.
- Make a list, with serial numbers if possible, and take pictures of all valuable equipment in the office.
- Move desks, file cabinets, and other furniture away from windows. Make sure all windows are closed and latched.
- Disconnect all electrical equipment.
- Remove all personal belongings. Personal belongings are not covered by UM insurance. Please take them home.

Stay Informed, Get the Facts Official announcements regarding hurricanes and other emergencies are issued by University Communications prior, during, and after an event. Messages in a time of crisis are immediately posted on the University's home page, www.miami.edu. Additional information about clinical and research operations on the Miller School campus can be found on the Miller School of Medicine's home page, www.med.miami.edu. The University's Storm Alert/Emergency Preparedness Web page at www.miami.edu/prepare will serve as the complete source for all official information and is updated regularly. In addition to the website, look for "Storm Alert" e-mails that are sent out at scheduled intervals with key information.

Update Your Contact Information on MyUM This information is used to disseminate voice and text messages in the event of an emergency. This will be one of the first methods to notify you of an emergency and what action to take. This is also where to provide information about where you would be staying if you need to evacuate your residence in the event of a hurricane. Please take the time now to confirm or update your contact information (phone and e-mail) on www.miami.edu/myUM. On the myUM home page, click on "Personal, Address and Emergency/Evacuation Information" in the "Personal & Biographical Info" section in the right-hand column. On this page you will find a link to forms where you can provide contact information for someone who will know how to reach you in the event of an emergency that requires you to leave your residence. On the same form, list an address and phone number where you can, most likely, be reached if you were not able to live in your home. If you do not have information for either of those, click the boxes to indicate you don't have a contact or don't know where you'll be.

In the event of a power outage, please monitor local radio and television broadcasts for University-issued information concerning full or partial campus closures, cancellations, and other news. In addition, when a storm approaches, the University's Emergency Information Hotline will be activated with a recorded message that is updated regularly throughout the event. The hotline phone number is 800-227-0354. Depending on storm conditions, the University's Emergency Operations Center (EOC) will be staffed with operators to assist callers. The hotline's recording will indicate the next scheduled information update and the operational hours of the EOC. Remember, the University is not an emergency shelter. For shelter information, call the American Red

After the Storm

Call In All employees should contact their supervisors as soon as possible after a hurricane to inform them of the status of their family and homes. Students, faculty, or staff who are forced to evacuate or temporarily relocate to another area can notify the University of their new location and contact information by going to recover.miami.edu. This is the online site where you should "check in" following a hurricane to let us know you're OK and where you are residing. Supervisors will be responsible for reporting on the safety of each staff member. For essential University information, call the Emergency Information Hotline at 800-227-0354.

Listen to Media Reports Follow all instructions given by the local authorities via radio and/or television. Do not attempt to return to the campus until the "all clear" is given by local authorities. This does not apply to essential units that have designated employees to be available prior to, during, and following a hurricane.
