The past year provided a sharp and welcome contrast to the significant declines of 2008-2009. The University of Miami’s endowment recovered a large portion of the previous fiscal year’s losses. As of May 31, 2010, the Growth Pool delivered a 17 percent total return, 3.8 percent better than the Total Portfolio benchmark return.

BENCHMARKS EXCEEDED, GROUNDWORK LAID FOR LONG-TERM GROWTH

The past year provided a sharp and welcome contrast to the significant declines of 2008-2009. The University of Miami’s endowment recovered a large portion of the previous fiscal year’s losses. As of May 31, 2010, the Growth Pool delivered a 17 percent total return, 3.8 percent better than the Total Portfolio benchmark return.

Benchmark, performing well on both an absolute and relative basis.