The Research Consortium for Healthcare Professionals in South Florida is both proud and excited to be hosting the 1st Annual Research Day, "Building Collaborative & Community focused Evidenced Based Approaches". This event will take place at the University of Miami, School of Nursing & Health Studies on October 19th, 2007. The objective of the Research Day is to present the vast array of opportunities to collaborate and share research being conducted within all the clinical facilities in South Florida.

We are expecting approximately 200 attendees from all aspects of the healthcare community throughout South Florida including graduate nursing students, clinicians completing evidences based research projects, hospital nurses, and nurses in academia. Our platform will be to share successes and failures, discover exceptional practices and learn from expert colleagues about their latest research projects.

A vital part of the event's success centers on partnering with your company's name as one of our sponsors. We would like to invite you to support the Research Consortium for Healthcare Professionals in South Florida with an opportunity for sponsorship. Sponsorship opportunities include the chance to network with various attendees and a complimentary registration for your organization.

Information on becoming a Research Day Sponsor is attached. Space is limited to only six tables, therefore, if you are interested, please contact nerygarcia@miami.edu immediately to reserve your table or you can choose to sponsor this worthwhile cause by selecting a category on the attached price list Please select and submit your choice via email to Nery Garcia and send a check payable to the following address:
